CHLAMYDIA

What is chlamydia?

- Chlamydia is a sexually transmitted infection that can infect both men and women

How is chlamydia spread?

- Spread through vaginal, oral, or anal sexual contact
- Untreated mothers can pass infections to newborns during childbirth
- Can be spread even when no symptoms are present

Signs and symptoms of chlamydia

- Most people do not have signs or symptoms
- Chlamydia in the rectum can cause rectal discharge and bleeding
- If left untreated chlamydia can cause permanent damage and can increase a person's chances of getting or spreading HIV/AIDS
- Women
 - White, clear, or cloudy vaginal discharge
 - Pain or burning sensation while urinating
 - Pain in lower abdomen
 - Can lead to pre-term births in pregnant women and severe eye infections and pneumonia in newborns
- Men
 - White, clear, or cloudy discharge from penis
 - Burning sensation while urinating
 - Swelling or soreness at head of the penis
 - Swelling in the testicles

Who is most at risk?

- Any sexually active person

How is chlamydia diagnosed?

- Urine sample
- Chlamydia is a site-specific infection, meaning, testing will need to occur in the sites that are exposed sexually, i.e., people who receive anal sex will need a rectal swab for that site to be adequately tested.

Is chlamydia treatable?

- Yes, with antibiotics

GONORRHEA

What is gonorrhea?

- Gonorrhea is a sexually transmitted disease that can infect both men and women

How is gonorrhea spread?

- Spread through vaginal, oral, or anal sexual contact
- Untreated mothers can pass infections to newborns during childbirth
- Can be spread even when no symptoms are present

Signs and symptoms of gonorrhea

- Most people do not have signs or symptoms
- Untreated gonorrhea can cause permanent damage and can increase a person's chances of getting or spreading HIV/AIDS
- Can spread to the blood stream causing pain throughout the body and can be life threatening
- Women
 - Green, yellow, or gray vaginal discharge
 - Pain or burning sensation while urinating
 - Bleeding between menstrual cycles
 - Pregnant women can pass the infection to the unborn baby which can cause blindness, joint infection, or a life-threatening blood infection in the newborn
- Men
 - Green, yellow, or gray penile discharge
 - Burning sensation while urinating
 - Swelling or soreness at head of the penis
 - Swelling in the testicles

Who is most at risk?

- Any sexually active person

How is gonorrhea diagnosed?

- Urine sample
- Gonorrhea is a site-specific infection, meaning, testing will need to occur in the sites that are exposed sexually, i.e., people who receive anal sex will need a rectal swab for that site to be adequately tested

Is gonorrhea treatable?

- Yes, with dual antibiotic therapy

SYPHILIS

What is syphilis?

- Syphilis is a sexually transmitted disease that can infect both men and women
- Syphilis can cause heart and brain damage and even death
- Syphilis is divided into stages with different signs and symptoms

How is syphilis spread?

- Direct contact with syphilis sores, mucous membranes, and other bodily fluids during vaginal, oral, or anal sexual contact

Signs and symptoms of syphilis

- Primary syphilis (symptoms can be mild)
 - Sore or sores at original point of infection
- Secondary syphilis (symptoms can be mild)
 - Skin rash
 - Swollen lymph nodes
 - Fever
- Latent stage
 - No signs or symptoms
- Tertiary syphilis
 - Severe medical problems that can affect the heart, brain, and other organs
- Neurosyphilis and Ocular Syphilis
 - Severe headache, loss of motor coordination, paralysis, numbness, dementia, changes in vision, blindness

Who is most at risk?

- Any sexually active person

How is syphilis diagnosed?

- Blood sample or sample from syphilis sore

Is syphilis treatable?

- Yes, with antibiotics, but damage is permanent

HERPES

What is herpes?

- Herpes is a sexually transmitted disease that can infect both men and women. It is caused by two different strains of viruses.

How is herpes spread?

- Spread by skin-to-skin contact with someone who is infected with the virus
- Pregnant women can spread herpes to their unborn child in the womb or to a newborn during childbirth
- Can be spread even when no symptoms are present

Signs and symptoms of syphilis

- Painful blisters or pimple-like sores on or around the genitals, anus, mouth or lips, and other areas of the face and body
- Flu-like symptoms when sores are present
- Sores can come back several times in a year
- Pregnant women may deliver their baby early or herpes may cause a miscarriage
- Can cause a deadly infection in unborn child

Who is most at risk?

- Any sexually active person

How is herpes diagnosed?

- Visual exam
- Sample from sores
- Blood draw

Is herpes treatable?

- No, but there are treatments for symptoms
- Some medicine can prevent sores or make them go away faster
- Daily treatment can reduce the risk of passing the infection to a partner

HEPATITIS C

What is Hepatitis C?

- Hepatitis C is a liver infection caused by the Hepatitis C Virus (HCV)
HCV can damage the liver and health of an individual over time

How is Hepatitis C spread?

- Hepatitis C is spread when blood from a person infected with HCV enters the body of someone who is uninfected. This can happen through various instances such as:
 - Sharing needles and other equipment to inject drugs
 - Body piercing or tattoos done in unlicensed and informal facilities
 - It can be sexually transmitted (in rare cases)
 - Babies born to mothers with Hepatitis C during childbirth
 - Sharing personal items contaminated with infected blood

Signs and symptoms of Hepatitis C

- Acute Hepatitis C
 - Fever, fatigue, dark urine, clay-colored stool, abdominal pain, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, joint pain, and jaundice
- Chronic Hepatitis C
 - Symptoms range from mild to severe and include cirrhosis (scarring of the liver) and liver cancer

Who is most at risk?

- Persons born from 1945-1965
- Persons who have ever injected illegal drugs
- Persons with known exposures to HCV
- All persons with HIV infections
- Patients with signs or symptoms of liver disease
- Children born to HCV positive mothers

How is Hepatitis C diagnosed?

- Blood sample

Is Hepatitis C treatable?

- Yes. Talk to your physician about the best treatment option.

HIV / AIDS

What is HIV?

- HIV is the virus that can lead to AIDS if untreated. HIV attacks the immune system which helps the body fight off infections.

How is HIV spread?

- HIV is spread when the blood, semen, pre-seminal fluid, rectal fluids, vaginal fluids, and/or breast milk of a person who has HIV comes in contact with a mucous membrane, or broken skin of an uninfected person. It can also be spread directly into the blood stream (sexual intercourse, needle/syringe sharing, mother to baby)

Signs and symptoms of HIV

- Stage 1: Acute HIV infection
 - Within 2 to 4 weeks after infection, people may experience flu-like symptoms
- Stage 2: Clinical Latency (HIV inactivity or dormancy)
 - No symptoms but can still transmit to others
 - Those on medical treatments for HIV can stay in this stage for decades and are much less likely to transmit HIV to others
- Stage 3: Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS)
 - People with AIDS have a badly damaged immune system that can increase the chance of getting a number of severe illnesses called opportunistic illnesses
 - Without treatment people typically survive 3 years
 - Chills, fever, swollen lymph glands, weakness, and weight loss

Who is most at risk?

- Men who have sex with men (MSM)
- Persons who participate in high-risk sexual behaviors
- Persons who inject drugs

How is HIV diagnosed?

- Blood sample or oral swab

Is HIV treatable?

- No effective cure exists, but with proper medical care HIV can be controlled

If you've been diagnosed with an STD, you may be able to get treatment for your partner, too.

If you've been diagnosed with chlamydia or gonorrhea, the first step is to get treatment.

But did you know that you may be able to get treatment for your partner, too?

Talk to your doctor. They may be able to give you medicine or a prescription for your partner – even without seeing them. This is called expedited partner therapy (EPT) or patient-delivered partner therapy (PDPT), and it's available in most states.

With EPT:

PRESCRIPTION

- Your partner can get treated quickly – without having to go to the doctor first
- You'll be protected from your partner passing the infection back to you
- Neither of you will pass the infection on in the future

Why does my partner need treatment?

Without treatment, your partner could pass the STD back to you. Keep in mind that many people with chlamydia and gonorrhea have no signs or symptoms, so your partner may have the STD and not know it. Left untreated, chlamydia and gonorrhea can cause serious health problems.

If you've been diagnosed with chlamydia or gonorrhea, talk to your doctor to find out if EPT is an option for you and your partner.
