2005 Utah Domestic Violence Homicides and Suicides

What is Domestic Violence?

Domestic violence (DV) is defined as a pattern of behavior used to establish power and control over another person through fear and intimidation, often including the threat or use of violence. This includes violence between family members, roommates, and current or former partners.

For this report, a suicide is considered domestic violence related if one of the circumstances surrounding the suicide involved violence or the threat of violence between intimate partners, family members, or roommates.

What can you do if you know someone who is being abused?

If you or someone you know is being abused, it is important to get help. Safety planning is crucial to protect the victim and any children in the home. Abuse will not stop on its own.

For help, call the Domestic Violence Information Line at 1-800-897-LINK (5465). You may remain anonymous when calling this number.

No one deserves to be abused. Only the abuser can stop the abusive behavior.
